If you have symptoms, here are some to look out, as listed by the Mayo Clinic. Wait a minute and try again. MORE DE SYMPTOMFIND.COM Foods containing high concentrations of vitamin C are linked to a lower risk of cardiovascular disease, such as heart attack and stroke. Nowadays, there are also numerous packaged food products, such as cereals, which have been enriched and fortified with vitamin C, so that the nutrient can be easily obtained. Moreover, those born between the years 1945 and 1965 cause concern, because they are five times more likely to be infected with hepatitis C than people born outside this period. These include if you have HIV, inject or inhale drugs, are a health worker who can be exposed to contaminated blood, has been in prison, has received a tattoo or piercing of a questionable environment or was born to a woman with hepatitis C. Resource Links: MORE SYMPTOMFIND.COM Hepatitis C, a virus that attacks the liver, is a complicated disease. However, there is no easy fix that works for each person. Since people who are pregnant, breastfeeding, smoking or using oral contraceptives have a lower blood level of vitamin C than others, the higher doses of vitamin C may be necessary to achieve optimal results in these individuals. This can lead to a complete liver failure and the need for a transplant to remain alive. In addition, regular vitamin C intake, along with other vitamins, has been associated with a decreased risk for the development of age-related cataracts, one of the main causes of visual impairment in the United States. Common sources of vitamin CVitamin C can be easily obtained through many different foods,Courtesy Photo: Akaradech Pramoonsin/Moment/Getty Images Catric and juices (orange, grapefruit, lemon, lemon and tangerine) tangerine) Tomato broccoli red pepper spinach potato cooking these foods can result in loss of part of the vitamin content; therefore, it is ideal for ingesting raw, whole or juice. However, malnourished individuals may suffer symptoms of vitamin deficiency C over time, including: Anemia of weakness fatigue Easy bruising of joint pain The inflammation of the gum of weakened tooth enamel of vitamin deficiency C is called a scurvy. What are the symptoms of hepatitis C? If you use illicit drugs, which should seek treatment for a litany of reasons, never share needles with other users. It can also cause liver cirrhosis, which creates mass scars and hinders liver work. Check the hygienic conditions of a location before deciding to pierce or a tattoo. It's curable. Therefore, if the main source of vitamin C is of food that occur naturally, it is almost impossible for excess vitamin C produce side effects. Here are some situations that put you at an increased risk of getting the disease, as quoted by the Mayo Clinic. In addition, vitamin C can also prevent anemia as it helps the body to increase iron absorption in the diet, another vital mineral that the body cannot spontaneously create. It can remain silent until there is serious damage to the liver. Vitamin C can also be labeled as "l-ascorbic acid" in the form of supplement, and most counter multivitamins contain the recommended daily amount of vitamin. Like vitamin C is crucial in detoxifying the body, lack of vitamin C can compromise the immune system and make an individual more susceptible to diseases and infections. You and your doctor will have to work together to find out which antiviral drugs will work in your specific situation. situation.
